

CALENDAR

Please join Center for Political Education and National Lawyers Guild-San Francisco Bay Area Chapter for a six-part series of monthly events on defending ourselves, each other, our communities, and our movements against state repression. Each event brings together lawyers and legal workers with grassroots organizers and activists with direct knowledge of these issues and experience in fighting back.

Our movements for social change have always been targets for repression from the state. The Trump regime has stoked even more anxiety among organizers and activists fighting for radical transformation. The administration's tenor has also encouraged white supremacist vigilante and fascist groups in civil society to step up their visibility, activity, and violence. This series aims to provide spaces in which we can interrogate specific modes of political repression, and strategies and tactics local organizers are using to resist this repression.

JANUARY

1.11.18

Defending J20 Resisters from DC to the Bay Area

An update on the cases, and defense, of activist facing crackdown for their participation in 2017 Trump inauguration protests.

FEBRUARY

2.22.18

Targeting the Movement: The FBI's Black Identity Extremist Designation and Black Liberation

A panel discussion with local activists, organizers, and lawyers on what the BIE designation means for movements for Black liberation and self-determination in the Bay Area.

MARCH

3.15.18

From the Inside Out: Threats and Opportunities for Prisoner Organizing and Solidarity Today

Five years on from the historic 2013 California prisoner hunger strikes, we'll look at the gains and setbacks confronting imprisoned peoples' fights for human rights and freedom.

APRIL

4.19.18

Land & Freedom: Repression and Resistance in Struggles for Indigenous Sovereignty, Right to Return, and Displacement

What do organizers and activists need learn and think about in how the state seeks to repress the right to land, movement, and sovereignty from the streets of Oakland, to Indigenous Territories, to Palestine?

MAY

5.10.18

Workers of the World: Defending Against Attacks on Labor, Migrant Workers, and their Communities

A conversation linking the defense of unions and worker organizing to the defense of organizing in migrant communities.

JUNE

6.21.18

Block by Block: Voter Suppression and Political Participation

An exploration of how gerrymandering, redistricting, and voter suppression affects democratic representation and political participation in these times.